IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

The Port of Dreams

By MIRIAM ALEXANDER

Author of "Beyond the Law." 12°. $1.35 net. By mail, $1.50

In the new story by the winner of the Great Prize Novel, awarded the prize of $1,250.00, Miss Alexander turns to a century with the history of which she is thoroughly imbued and the scenes of which are to her a familiar landscape. It is a tale of love and adventure laid in the stirring Jacobite days and confirms the opinions of the critics, who welcomed the author of "Beyond the Law" as a notable recruit to the small band of novelists that may be relied upon to produce something distinctive.

Who Laughs Last

By ASHTON HILLIERS

Author of "As It Happened," "The Master Girl," etc.

12°. $1.25 net. By mail, $1.40

A story rich in human content, abounding in telling contrasts of character and impressive portraiture and seasoned with incident and adventure, and the author has filled the page of his new novel with glowing incident and thrilling happenings.

Ashes and Sparks

By PERCY WHITE

12°. $1.25 net. By mail, $1.40

The book is full of fine perception, and its kindly humor is free from exaggeration. The dry, devoted, conservative, anti-Suffragist cousin of the heroine, who tells the story, is rendered with masterly fidelity.

The Hero of Herat

A Frontier Romance

By MAUD DIVER

Author of "Candles in the Wind," "Captain Desmond, V. C.," etc.

12°. With Frontispiece. $1.50 net. By mail, $1.65

Maud Diver has chosen as the central figure of her present story Eldred Pottinger, an historic personage whose life, brim full of adventure, had all the charm of romance. For the setting of the story we have the tumultuous period when the last half of the Indian Empire was in the making, a period that produced characters conspicuous for courage, daring, and steadfastness.

The Romance of the Rothschilds

By IGNATIUS BALLA

8°. 4 Illus. $3.00 net. By mail, $3.25

The story of the accumulation of the greatest aggregate fortune and the history of the most noteworthy family of financiers that the world has seen. Contents: The Rise of the Rothschilds—the founder of the House The English Rothschild, Baron James Rothschild. The Rothschilds at Naples. The Frankfort House. The Vienna Rothschilds.

HALF-DOLLAR BOOKS

POPULAR STANDARD NOVELS

¶ A reading public for the work of Modern Novelists is a development. The regular purchasers of dollar-and-a-quarter fiction are recruited steadily from the ranks of those who buy half-dollar books.

¶ We have consistently published fiction of a very high average of worth and genius, and in this present venture it is our purpose to present some of the work of our leading writers in attractive form to sell at half-a-dollar in the hope that an active interest will be stimulated in all the books by the authors represented.

¶ This is a logical and reasonable method of extending the market for good books.

¶ We earnestly invite the co-operation of booksellers at our liberal profit-providing terms.

China's Most Mystical Book

By C. H. A. BJERREGAARD

LIBRARIAN, NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

FIFTEEN years ago the Tao-Teh-King was practically unknown outside a very narrow circle of scholars. Now there are several English and German translations on the market, all very different in value. No commentary on the Tao-Teh-King as a whole or in part has been published until the present attempt by C. H. A. Bjerregaard, Librarian, New York Public Library. His object has been to draw attention to that wonderful life of simplicity which is the keynote of the book and which was lived by the ancients at a pre-ethical period. This book tells the wisdom of ages in the terms and life of to-day.

PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS

CHICAGO Jan'y 15, 1913.

Mr. S. C. Britton, Prest.,
The Reilly & Britton Company, Chicago.

Dear Mr. Britton:

Since my conversation with you I have canvassed the situation thoroughly, with the following result:

"Their Yesterdays," from publication day to the first of January almost equalled the unprecedented sale of "Barbara Worth" for the same period of the year previous. The popularity of "Their Yesterdays" is fast increasing and from all indications it will prove the most popular, as well as the most masterful book that Harold Bell Wright has yet written.

Realizing the importance to humanity of this contribution, I am determined to continue to further its sale in every possible judicious manner, and I have decided to put no overshadowing book in its way. Therefore, as final and conclusive, I wish to say there will be no new book of any description by Harold Bell Wright published this year.

The demand for "The Winning of Barbara Worth" continues to be strong, and there really is no reason for its going into a Popular Edition next fall. I am, however, tempted by a proposition for One Million copies first edition in Popular form, and it remains to be seen whether or not the temptation is strong enough to make me break a good resolution.

But if "Barbara Worth" does go into a Popular Edition next fall, we will protect every bookseller to the extent of his stock on hand.

Everything looks promising and I am sure we will all be well pleased with the sale of the Harold Bell Wright books this year.

Yours sincerely,

Elbury W. Reynolds
Prest.

The above letter will give booksellers the exact situation regarding the publication plans of The Book Supply Company for 1913. As exclusive selling agents to the trade, we desire to say that since the close of the holiday season we have received reorders from all sections of the country for "Their Yesterdays" and "Barbara Worth," showing conclusively that stocks were cleaned up and that the strong demand of the previous year is to be continued. We are assured by Mr. Reynolds that both books are to be well advertised all through the present year.

CHARGING INTEREST ON DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS.

OUR attention was called the other day to the case of a bookseller who had entered complaint against a certain New York publisher's rule of requiring interest on delinquent accounts. The publisher's statement of his case was frank:

"I found that certain booksellers, not content with the usual trade datings, let their accounts run practically indefinitely. Investigation discovered that most of these dealers were perfectly able to pay their bills—had they not been, we would not have extended them credit—but through bad habit, or deliberate intention, they had become accustomed to letting accounts hang fire a year, sometimes longer. We have our own business to finance. To a certain extent, in accordance with the practice usual in the booktrade, as in other retail trades, we finance our customers. To do this, we borrow money of our banks, and on this money we, of course, pay interest. When a customer desires an unusual extension, we always endeavor to accommodate him; but we consider it simple justice to ourselves to ask him to pay us interest on the additional bank balance we are carrying for him."

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY does not think that publisher really put it strongly enough. To allow one dealer to let his accounts run a year, while his neighbor pays promptly, is to deal unjustly with the latter. In effect, it means giving the slow payer an unwarranted extra discount, viz., the free use of the money represented in the unpaid account. That is both unfair to the dealer who deserves best of the publisher, and demoralizing to the trade in general.

Five years, ten years, ago, the bookseller who discounted his bills was a rarity; extensions were the rule. Fortunately, that isn't the condition to-day; most booksellers are approving and adopting the credit customs that govern general business. We believe that the bookseller who was "miffed" at the publisher above mentioned because the latter enforced a sensible and equitable rule, made a mistake; we venture that, on reconsideration, he will reverse his resultant action.

OUR Canadian cousins are agitating the question of organizing, or, rather, of reorganizing, a booksellers' association of their own. The booksellers and stationers of Canada have, we understand, been organized several times before, with indifferent success, but did not have the enthusiastic support of the rank and file of dealers throughout the country. The carrying out of a work designed to benefit the trade as a whole devolved, as is so often the case, upon a small group of men, who naturally grew discouraged because of the failure of the majority of the merchants to appreciate what these few workers were doing to forward the general well-being of the Canadian trade. As to the value of trade organization, especially for the bookseller, there is not the slightest chance for argument. Co-operation has been the making, or, rather, the rejuvenating, of the American trade. If we judge from the number of new stores starting, the Canadian trade is in a flourishing condition; but that does not mean that an efficient and enthusiastic organization could not make it more prosperous.

THE BOOKSELLERS' VOCATION.*

I HAVE been asked to speak to you on "The Booksellers' vocation from the point of view of the publishers' representative."

What are some of the requirements necessary to the making of your vocation a successful one?

First, as thorough a knowledge of your stock as possible. Next, close attention to the desires of your customers and suggestive help, as quick service as the occasion will permit, and at all times politeness, which includes, of course, a pleasing manner.

A "GET TOGETHER CLUB."

Now, regarding the knowledge of your stock. It can hardly be expected that any one salesman or saleswoman can find an opportunity to read every book that comes into the store, and as a suggestion I would recommend that you form a "Get Together Club." I believe the buyer would find it profitable to himself, to his employer and to his associates. To the buyer, because he would be opening up a way to more readily dispose of the stock for which he is responsible; to his employer, because he would sell more books and so increase the profits, and to his associates, because they would find an inspiration in these discussions and the interchanging of ideas.

If once every two or three weeks he would take an hour, gather his salesmen and saleswomen together, and discuss the list of new books which had been purchased during that period, he would find that each had a certain pride in having formulated some definite selling idea and, incidentally, there would be created a personal interest and enthusiasm, which means service in the departments that is invaluable.

We have many such gatherings a month at Garden City, and I believe they are responsible for making, and also for saving, several thousands of dollars a year.

SUGGESTIVE HELP.

When a customer comes in and says, "I want a book for a friend," do you ever inquire if it is for a young person or an older one? and then do you suggest a good nature story, or a book on philosophy, or poetry, or a good novel? and do you inquire if the customer can recall any books this friend may have spoken highly of and enjoyed, to help you make a suggestion?

This may possibly seem superfluous to you, but I have watched many clerks display book after book without making a sale, heard them complain of the disappointed customer "not knowing what he wanted," when by a careful analysis of the situation this salesman could have worked out the customer's problem, invited his confidence, satisfied him and made a regular customer. I know of no occasion when a person is so liable not to know exactly what he wants as in the purchasing of books.

QUICK SERVICE.

How many times have you walked out of a store without having purchased, the house having lost your patronage, because you could get no one to wait on you? On the other hand, if a customer wishes to "browse" around he should be allowed to do so.

THE VALUE OF THE SOFT VOICE AND THE GLAD HAND.

And now, politeness and a pleasing manner. I can best illustrate this with an incident that actually took place a few years ago in one of our best known book stores in New York City. One evening, just a few moments before closing time, an elderly man and his wife entered. Practically every one had left the floor with the exception of one clerk. The lady wanted a particular kind of book for a most particular friend, and after the clerk had spent half an hour (during which time he had taken nearly every book out of the shelves), the husband became impatient; not the bookclerk—he was as genial and agreeable and pleasant as though he were selling a diamond necklace and was to receive the entire profit of the sale. Finally she secured just the book she wanted. The man was so impressed with the salesman that he offered him a position at $20 a week more than he was then receiving.

How many of you study the characteristics of your customers? Can you call those who frequent your store by name, and do you remember where they live, if they should desire a book charged and sent? At one large wholesale house in this city there is an employee who draws a very large salary, merely to greet customers who come there to buy. It is said no one ever visits the store a second time, regardless of the length of time between visits, that this employee does not at once greet him by name, inquire of his particular kind of business and speak of the town or city the customer lives in. If a big concern like this finds it worth its while to pay a large salary for this service is it not proportionately worth while for you to make a study of it?

"FEWER BOOKS" VS. "MORE SALES."

We all hear in these days a great deal about the over-production of books. I do not believe there is half the truth in that phrase that there is in the fact that we have not progressed, like other big commercial organizations, in finding more adequate ways to sell our goods.

We who are gathered here have one of the greatest of opportunities to work out book problems, in fact to revolutionize the book business. Someone will do it in the next five or ten years. Why not let it be you? The reason the opportunity is so great is because there has been so little real development in the book trade for so many years.

I believe the time will soon arrive when you will find book stores all over the big cities of the United States, and these stores will make profits too, and when that time arrives I believe it will be a help to the progressive book store to have them there. Of course it will put the unprogressive man out of business, but that kind of weeding out will be good for the business and it will be good for you.

MORE BOOK STORES A NECESSITY.

We want more book stores all over the country. There are hundreds of towns in which there is not a single book store. There are more homes in this country that own a piano or an organ than homes that own a library. The publishers realize the deficiency and they are more than willing to help you who are alert, wide-awake and competent to get on and in business for yourself. They are always open to any reasonable suggestions.

How many ideas do you take every month to your employer or to the head of your department? Possibly you reason that it is not worth while, for he reaps the benefit or glory, or whatever you may desire to call it. But reason further—what if he does? If it is a good idea and helps him, he is going to do all he can to keep you; you are valuable to him and he needs you, and all the time you are building your foundation and preparing yourself for bigger undertakings to follow.

What responsibility do you take in working out the problem of getting better books? Have you formed the habit, which so many dealers have, of putting a book under the table when it begins to sell big so they can sell their slower moving stock? If I were operating a book store and had a book that was a big seller, I would push it to the limit, believing that by so doing it would naturally interfere with the sales of the unnecessary books. Then the publishers would find it unprofitable to publish them, and in a short time you, not the publishers, would have solved the problem of "Fewer and Better Books."

THE STRENUOUS LIFE IN A SCOTCH BOOKSHOP.

IN a recent address before the Booksellers' Association of Philadelphia, telling of "Rambles in England and Scotland," Warren Snyder commented on the lack of system in some of the bookshops of those countries.

"In many of the shops," he said, "little or no effort is made to classify the stock. In some it is classified under two headings—books that are sold in sets and books that are not sold in sets. I said to a dealer: 'If your stock were only classified, I would buy a great many more books.' His answer was: 'You can't classify a popular stock like this.' I only know of one reason why it could not be classified, and that is the lack of ambition to go to work at it.

"In a shop where I bought some books last summer, I inquired the price of a number of finely bound sets that I saw on the shelves, and in every instance the salesman had to go to some other part of the shop to find the volume in which the selling price was marked. Many of the shops are in buildings that were formerly dwellings. In one shop that I recall, the stock is alphabetically arranged according to authors, regardless of the subject. For instance, Byron's 'Poems' would be in the third story, and the book next to it might be Bacon's 'Essays' or Buckle's 'History of Civilization.' Milton's 'Poems' would probably be in the second story and Scott and Wordsworth in the basement. The main floor is usually kept for sets and expensive books.

"One morning I went into a shop in Edinburgh and commenced to look over the shelves. The only person in attendance was a man of about seventy. After a while, when I crossed to the opposite side of the shop to examine the stock there, the old man called out in a loud voice, with a decided Scotch accent, 'Those books are not on view; they are not on view.' I said nothing, but stepped to a shelving that extended part way through the middle of the shop. Again he thundered out, 'Those books are not on view.' 'What do you mean?' I asked. 'Are not these books for sale?' His answer was, 'They are catalogued.' 'You catalogued them to sell, did you not?' I replied. 'I came in here to buy books, and I am ready to buy as many as I find to suit me; it does not matter whether I spend a hundred pounds or a thousand pounds.' After looking at him for a few seconds, during which he remained perfectly silent and motionless, I said, 'Good morning,' and walked out. I turned as I passed through the doorway to take another look at him, and apparently he had not moved. I wonder what his afterthoughts were. The books had probably been catalogued, and he thought the money spent for the catalogue would be lost if he sold them to me. His reasoning was something like the Scotchman who went to London to see a big parade. On his return, one of his friends asked how he liked the parade. 'I did not see it,' he said. 'But I thought you went expressly to see it?' 'I did, mon, but the landlord charged me ten shillings a day for a room, and after paying so much, I was not agoing to leave it to see any parade and let the landlord get the best of me.'"

THE estimated lowest aggregate market value of photo engravings (halftones and line etchings) produced in the commercial process plants of the United States during 1912, according to William Hughes, publisher The Engraver and Electrotyper, is $21,197,576.

Wages made up the principal cost in the production thereof, aggregating $5,616,000; being nearly 26½ per cent. of the sales. The next biggest outlay was for the metals used, amounting to $1,024,051—$756,000 being for the polished copper, and $268,051 for the polished zinc sheets.

The wages and the metals combined aggregated $6,640,051; which is a shade under 31⅓ (31.32) per cent. of the sale—of the mounted engraved copper and zinc printing plates. This leaves a balance of $14,557,525—which is over 68-2-3 (68.68) per cent. of the market value of their products ($21,197,576)—for the proprietors; minus office and outside salaries and "overhead" expenses, renewals or repairs of apparatus, chemicals and losses. 228,221,592 square inches of the polished metal sheets were used during the twelve months: 97,834,968 inches of copper, and 130,446,624 inches of zinc. Calculating 15 cents an inch as the average selling price of the copper halftones, the total sales thereof amounted to $14,675,245. Taking five cents per inch as the average selling price of the engraved mounted zinc plates, their total sales amounted to $6,522,331; being much more than a third (the selling price proportion) of the copper plates sales, on account of 32,611,656 square inches more of zinc being used.

The total weight was 2,160,000 pounds of the copper sheets used; and the zinc sheets weighed 276,823 pounds more, namely, 2,436,823 pounds. The proportionately greater excess of zinc by area, over the increase by weight, is due to the zinc being lighter. The standard sheet of zinc weighs two pounds less than the same size sheet of copper; the lighter metal being eleven-thirteenths (11-13) the weight of the heavier.

THE BORDEN LIBRARY SALE.

THE valuable library formed by the late M. C. D. Borden will be sold at the American Art Galleries by Thomas E. Kirby on the evening of February 17, and the afternoons and evenings of February 18 and 19. The sale will consist of 838 lots, many of which contain more than fifty volumes.

Included in the rarities is a fine, clear copy of the first edition of Robert Burns's "Poems, Chiefly in the Scottish Dialect," printed by John Wilson at Kilmarnock in 1786. The Robert Hoe copy of this edition, with two holograph letters by Burns inserted, was knocked down at Anderson's for $5,800. The Borden copy is in full black morocco binding, with gold tooling on sides in dentelle, gilt edges.

Another valuable and interesting Burns item is an extra-illustrated set of his works, Edinburgh, William Patterson, 1877-78, extended from seven to thirteen volumes. Included in the insertions are a number of original manuscripts and holograph letters. On the inside panel of volume VII. is incased under glass a lock of Burns's dark brown hair, tied with a bow of blue ribbon.

A folio album contains two holograph letters of Napoleon Bonaparte, letters from the Empress Josephine and from Queen Hortense to the Conte de Lavalette. The album, which is in green levant morocco binding by Chambolle-Duru, contains likewise many rare portraits and interesting historical matter.

Another folio album, once the property of the Duchess de Berry, contains thirty-six autograph letters signed, documents, official communications of the kings and queens of France, seven rare prints, and forty-two folio engraved portraits of French royal personages. "Album Artistique de la Reine Hortense" (Eugénie de Beauharnais) is extra-illustrated by the insertion of choice plates of Napoleon I., Josephine and others. "Précieuse Correspondance de Marie-Louise à Marie-Amélie, 1816-21," has 11 rare portraits, also a holograph letter of Napoleon I. "Napoleon Ier et Son Temps" contains sixty-three autograph letters from royal personages; 205 portraits, mostly colored, and thirteen plates illustrative of Napoleon's life.

A rare old English work is the first edition of "A Paraenesis to the Prince," by William Alexander, Earl of Sterling, quarto, London, 1604, in binding by Riviere. Another English rarity is "The Right Pleasaunt and Goodly Historie of the Foure Sonnes of Aimon," printed by William Copland in 1554. It came from the Jersey library, was afterwards owned by William Morris, and is said to be the only perfect copy offered for sale for nearly a century. It is in binding by Riviere. Extremely rare also is a copy of the second edition of "The Garden of the Muses," by John Bodenham, London, 1610.

Scarce, too, is a first edition of Richard Brathwaite's "Nature's Embassie, or The Wilde-Man's Measures," London, 1621; "M. T. Cicero's Cato Major, or His Discourse of Old Age," Philadelphia, 1744, "Printed and Sold by B. Franklin," was considered by Franklin the finest production of his press. A first edition of "Letters to Several Persons of Honour," by John Donne, London, 1651, contains a rare frontispiece portrait of the author by Lombart.

Contained in two volumes is a valuable collection of original dispatches and letters of General U. S. Grant.

Of Homer there are the editio princeps, Florence, 1488, of the Iliad and Odyssey, and the first complete edition of George Chapman's English translation, printed in London in 1611 or 1612 by Richard Field. A copy of the "Hours," manuscript on vellum, is of the fifteenth century. A fine clean copy of the first edition of Washington Irving's "History of New York" has the folding frontispiece, "View of New Amsterdam, 1640," which is seldom found. An extra-illustrated first edition of the same author's "Life of George Washington" contains autograph letters of Washington Irving, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and others; the original document of a war council held by Washington and signed by him, Gates, Kosciuszko and others, and Washington Irving's original manuscript for Chapter 32 of the "Life of Washington." A note-book in the handwriting of Irving contains extracts and notes from various books of prose and verse.

George Keith's "Truth Advanced in the Correction of Many Gross and Hurtful Errors," quarto, 1694, is one of the first books printed in New York City. The "Imitatio Christi," by Thomas à Kempis, circa 1471, is an uncommonly fine and tall copy of the first edition. An exceedingly scarce little volume is Rudyard Kipling's "Schoolboy Lyrics," printed at Lahore in 1881. Interesting Keats, Charles Lamb, Dryden, Nelson, Defoe, Milton and other items are also offered.

"Institutio Principis," by Harduino de Perefice de Beaumont, Paris, 1647, is King Louis XIV.'s copy, and is one of the choicest specimens from his library that has been preserved. An extremely rare twelfth century manuscript of the Gospels on vellum is written in the ancient Armenian language. "La Navigation: Poeme," by J. Esmenard, Paris, 1806, is Napoleon I.'s own copy, with his autograph on fly leaf.

One of the most noteworthy items in the library is the Daly-Borden collection of views of New York City in twelve folio volumes. These views consist of 1,243 maps, original drawings, lithographs in color and broadsides, many of them rare. These and the plates in the extra-illustrated "Life of Washington" have been catalogued by Robert Fridenberg. A fine John Ruskin manuscript is his "Notes by Mr. Ruskin on Samuel Prout and William Hunt."

$266 FOR BURTON EDITION OF "ARABIAN NIGHTS."

SALE OF ROBERTS LIBRARY DEVELOPS INTEREST- ING PRICES.

THE private library of the late Dr. O. S. Roberts was sold by the Merwin Sales Company last week, Friday, in two sessions. G. Weiss and Mr. Sessler, of Philadelphia, were the heaviest buyers.

The top price was $266, paid by Mr. Weiss for the Burton edition of the "Arabian Nights," that was privately printed in Benares, India, in 1855-58. No illustrations appeared with the edition, but this copy has been embellished with 368 plates, including twenty-one full-page etchings by Lalauze.

Mr. Weiss paid $155 for the manuscript edition of Thoreau's works, printed by Houghton Mifflin & Co., 1906; $50 for the Temple edition of Thackeray, by Dent & Co., 1904; $200 for Amateurs edition of Shakespeare, Estes & Co., 1900; $152 for the autograph edition of Richardson, Crosscup & Sterling Company, 1901; and $100 for the memorial edition of Ingersoll, Dresden Publishing Company, 1902.

Mr. Sessler paid $200 for the "Secret Memoirs of the Courts of Europe," printed by Barrie & Son, of Philadelphia; $50 for the same publishers' "History of America"; $175 for a Japan paper edition of Poe, with a Poe manuscript inserted; $151 for the autograph edition of Scott; and $60 for the Constable edition of Field, 1898.

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS.

THE president and fellows of Harvard College voted, on January 27, to establish the Harvard University Press, for the publication of works of a high scholarly character. For some years the University Publication Office, besides printing the catalogues, department pamphlets, and other official documents, has found it possible, in spite of its limited resources, to issue, from time to time, a few special works, until it now publishes seven periodicals and more than eighty books, ranging from treaties on Indic philology to practical directions for American lumbermen. To organize and extend this activity, so as to make the university properly effective as a publishing center for scholarly books, is the object of the new foundation.

The Harvard University Press, though so recently established, is able to announce several noteworthy volumes as in preparation, including books by the late Professor James Barr Ames, of the Law School, and by Professors George Foot Moore, Eugene Wambaugh, Arthur E. Kennelly, George L. Kittredge, Charles H. Haskins, George A. Reisner and W. B. Munro. Most of these will appear in a short time.

The board of syndics who will decide on the books to be published by the new Press are Robert Bacon, fellow of Harvard College, chairman; George Foot Moore, professor of the history of religion; Arthur E. Kennelly, professor of electrical engineering; George L.

Kittredge, professor of English; Charles H. Thurber, member of the firm of Ginn & Co.; Edwin F. Gay, professor of economics and dean of the Graduate School of Business Administration; and W. B. Cannon, professor of physiology. The director of the Press is Charles Chester Lane, for the last five years publication agent of the university.

The establishment of the Harvard University Press recalls the fact that the first printing press in America was a gift to Harvard College in 1639, and was set up in the house of President Dunster. Among other important books which were printed on it were the Bay Psalm Book and John Eliot's Indian Bible.

GENERAL BOOK TARIFF WILL PROBABLY REMAIN UNCHANGED.

PRESENT indications are that the existing 25 per cent. tariff duty on books will remain unchanged by the proposed tariff revision which the new national administration has already under way.

Hearings upon Schedules "M," pulp, paper and books, were held by the Congressional committee on January 17. Emphatic protest was registered against the retention of the present duty on pulp and paper, John Norris, of New York, chairman of the committee on paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, being the chief protestant. Arthur C. Hastings, of New York, president of the American Paper and Pulp Association, made equally emphatic protest against change. The Washington feeling is that Congress "does not really desire to reduce pulp and paper rates, but that the position of the newspapers to make trouble if opposed is only too well realized."

R. E. Magill, secretary of the Presbyterian committee on publication, was present to register a protest against the retention of the present duty on Bibles and other religious works. It is said to be not improbable that these may be put on the free list.

James L. Feeney, of New York, representing the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, asked that the provision in the present tariff law admitting books printed over twenty years ago free of duty be amended to provide that the books admitted free must also have been bound twenty years ago. Mr. Feeney said that ten years ago 1000 men were employed in "art binderies" in the city of New York, and that to-day but 200 were employed. He credited this condition to the practice of sending old books abroad to be rebound by "cheap foreign labor" and re-importing them free.

RIGHTS IN UNPUBLISHED MANUSCRIPT.

SEVERAL INTERESTING POINTS COME UP IN A CANADIAN LAWSUIT.

(Special Correspondence to the Publishers' Weekly.)

TORONTO, JAN. 11.

A LAWSUIT of considerable interest to both publishers and authors has just been decided by the High Court of Justice of Ontario. In effect, the case is a sequel to an earlier case which was fully reported in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of October 28, 1911. Briefly, an author, Dr. W. D. LeSueur, of Ottawa, was invited to prepare a life of William Lyon Mackenzie for the "Makers of Canada" series, published by Morang & Company. Through the courtesy of the Mackenzie family, he was allowed access to a collection of papers and documents left by Mackenzie and, with the assistance of this material, compiled his biography. When his manuscript was submitted, however, it was found that he had taken such a prejudiced view of the subject that it was deemed inadvisable to publish his work in the series, and another life was prepared in its place.

Doubtless influenced by the Mackenzie family, Morang & Company refused to return the manuscript to Dr. LeSueur. The latter sent back the money which had been paid him in the first instance and brought suit against the publishers for the recovery of his property. The case was carried from court to court and was finally decided in favor of the plaintiff by the Supreme Court of Canada in October, 1911. The Court directed that Morang & Company should forthwith hand over the manuscript to the author.

Following the return of the manuscript Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, grandson of Mackenzie and custodian of his papers, took steps to prevent its publication by Dr. LeSueur. He brought suit against him to compel him to deliver up all extracts from and copies of any manuscripts, books, papers, writings, and documents of every kind, obtained from the Mackenzie collection and to restrain him from publishing them or causing them to be published. This case has just been heard and judgment in favor of the plaintiff delivered on January 9.

"It seems to me clear," said Mr. Justice Britton in rendering his decision, "that the plaintiff (Lindsey) and the late Charles Lindsey (plaintiff's father) supposed that the defendant (LeSueur) intended to write of William Lyon Mackenzie as one of the men in Canadian history who can fairly be called, speaking colloquially, as one of the 'Makers of Canada.' The conduct of the defendant and what he said warranted the plaintiff and Charles Lindsey in so thinking. I must find as a fact, that the defendant gave the plaintiff and Charles Lindsey to understand that the views and feelings of the defendant towards Mackenzie were friendly and that his attitude in presenting Mackenzie to the public was a fair one, that he had no bias against Mackenzie, and that he had no feeling or opinion which would prevent him, as a writer, from truly presenting the facts and circumstances of Mackenzie's life and character. The defendant, in my opinion, intended that the plaintiff and Charles Lindsey should believe as they did in reference to defendant's feeling and attitude.

"At the time of defendant's arrangement with the plaintiff, the defendant did hold strong views against Mackenzie. At that time the defendant intended to write the life of Mackenzie on other than conventional lines. He intended to write of Mackenzie, not as one of the 'Makers of Canada,' but as a 'puller-down,' as was stated during the trial.

"I am of the opinion, upon the evidence, that the defendant made use of the Mackenzie collection of books and papers other than was in accord with the understanding between him and the plaintiff and Charles Lindsey. The use was made contrary to the wish, and contrary to what was known to be the wish, of the plaintiff's father. It is inconceivable upon the facts that either Charles Lindsey or the plaintiff would have permitted access to the Mackenzie papers had either known or supposed that such manuscript as the defendant produced would have resulted. It is plain to me that the defendant knew that he could not have obtained access to the collection had he revealed his true feelings or declared his real intention.

"No question of copyright is involved. It is a question of getting access to the house of another and using the property therein for personal purposes, different to what was consented to by the owner."

W. A. C.

A SMALL CITY BOOKSTORE WITH A SIXTY-FOUR-YEAR RECORD.

WHEN John Sterling, the Watertown, N. Y., bookseller and stationer, moves his store from its present quarters in the Y. M. C. A. Building to the Sherman Block, in Washington Street, it will be the second time in sixty-four years that the store has been moved.

When the Sterling firm first started in business, nearly three-quarters of a century ago, it occupied a store in the Paddock Arcade. When the owners later desired the store for their own use, Mr. Sterling's father moved to the Y. M. C. A. Block. The move was against the advice of friends, so Mr. Sterling said, as many firms had failed in the newer location. Mr. Sterling replied that he would endeavor to disprove the prevailing notion, and he succeeded. The firm is now one of the oldest, if not the oldest, doing business in the center of Watertown.

The Watertown Y. M. C. A. are now to tear down their old building to make way for a new $250,000 one. Mr. Sterling is to have a store in the new building when it is ready, and, meantime, has taken a store three doors away; and, to take no chances, on a two-years' lease.

COURSES IN JOURNALISM AT NEW YORK UNIVERSITY.

THE New York University School of Commerce and Finance offers the following evening courses in journalism this winter:

6a. Newspaper Making.—Fridays, 6-7.45 p.m.

The organization and methods of the modern newspaper are studied in this course. Lectures and discussions of the duties of the managing editor, the city editor, the telegraph editor, the Sunday editor, the newspaper correspondent, etc.

8a. Literary and Dramatic Editing.—Tuesdays, 4.45-6.45 p.m.

A laboratory course in book reviewing and criticism of the drama.

12a. Magazine Circulation.—Thursdays, 7.45-9.45 p.m.; also Tuesdays, 1.30-3.30 p.m.

A detailed study of the different methods employed by American magazines to increase circulation. Special attention will be paid to the circulation obtained through news-stands, agents, clubbing offers, etc.

14a. Mechanics of Verse.—Mondays, 7.45-9.45 p.m.

This course deals almost entirely with the writing of verse.

15. Trade Journalism.—Mondays, 6-7.45 p.m.

This course deals with the editing and publishing of trade papers, and aims to fit students for editorial staffs of trade journals.

3a. Current Topics.—Wednesdays, 7.45-9.45 p.m.

A study of contemporary events and of the sources of information regarding them. Also an examination of their journalistic and editorial treatment by the leading dailies and weeklies.

9a. Special Feature Work.—Tuesdays, 7.45-9.45 p.m.

Lectures and discussions of the various problems connected with the special feature work of the modern magazine, the newspaper supplement, and the literary weekly.

ADVERTISING RECORDS OF 1912.

LAST week's issue of Printers' Ink was an annual review number. According to its statistical summaries, the Cosmopolitan headed the list of general magazines in lines of advertising carried. In 1910 and 1911, it had stood second to Everybody's. Second place this year went to an outsider, Sunset. The figures for the ten leaders are:

Cosmopolitan	484,686
Sunset	378,454
Review of Reviews	320,640
Everybody's	302,076
McClure's	267,193
World's Work	261,689
Scribner's	205,795
Munsey's	203,590

American	194,265
Harper's Monthly	181,726

The total advertising carried during the year by all the twenty-one representative general magazines listed was 4,761,997 lines, almost exactly the same as 1911, but considerably below 1910.

The ten first women's magazines in advertising patronage were:

Vogue	747,765
Ladies' Home Journal.....	344,140
Woman's Home Companion.....	294,873
Good Housekeeping	286,125
Delineator	249,004
Woman's Magazine	220,677
Designer	220,385
Pictorial Review	188,750
Modern Priscilla	171,217
Ladies' World	160,730

Here the totals fell below both 1910 and 1911.

The largest advertisement carriers among the class and special magazines were:

Motor	963,312
Motor Boating	474,901
Country Life in America.....	468,422
System	404,480
Architectural Record	328,832
Popular Mechanics	297,614
Suburban Life	177,523
Outing	172,311
House Beautiful	162,418
House and Garden.....	151,337

This class of periodicals showed largely increased totals over both 1910 and 1911.

For the weekly general magazines, the figures ran:

Saturday Evening Post.....	1,177,329
Town and Country.....	661,315
Collier's	634,898
Literary Digest	553,911
Outlook	410,752
Life	390,135
Leslie's Weekly	270,715
Independent	261,282
Scientific American	246,958
Christian Herald	240,997

Here again totals for the class showed increases over both 1910 and 1911. In other words, weeklies seem to be tending to displace monthlies as general advertising mediums.

PLATT & PECK MOVE.

PLATT & PECK are moving from their former offices at 395 Broadway to new and larger quarters at 354 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE fourth in the series of Booksellers' League trade lectures was given at the Liberal Club last Tuesday noon, Daniel Nye, of Doubleday, Page & Company, being the speaker. His paper is reprinted elsewhere in this issue of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. The two months' break in the lectures had affected the attendance, but interest was keen, and the lively discussion that followed the formal lecture was most informing.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA.

THE regular monthly dinner of the Booksellers' Association of Philadelphia was held at the Franklin Inn Club, Friday evening, January 24. The speakers were Warren Snyder, of the John Wanamaker store, whose subject was "Rambles Among London Bookshops"; William M. Bains, who gave some interesting recollections of Philadelphia booksellers; and Stan V. Henkels, who talked about "Book Sharks." Mr. Snyder's paper is quoted from elsewhere in this issue of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and Mr. Bains' will be reprinted in a forthcoming number.

OBITUARY NOTES.

By an error, the obituary notice of Harry Peyton Steger, in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for January 11, stated that he was born in 1876. The date should have been 1882.

RICHMOND SEELEY, of the English publishing firm of Seeley, Service & Co., died at Epsom, January 9, in his eightieth year. The second son of Robert Benton Seeley, and an elder brother of the late Sir John Seeley, he succeeded in 1857 to his father's share in a business which had originally been founded in the city by his grandfather about 1784. Of wide reading, no small attainments, and much native modesty, Mr. Seeley worthily carried on the high traditions of his family business, which, under the influence of his father, had acquired a strong tone of evangelical churchmanship. Mr. Seeley took a particular interest in the processes of illustration and the application of photography for the purpose of reproducing pictures and designs, and he developed his business strongly on these lines. One of his earlier ventures in this direction, which met with great success and well known on this side, was a series he promoted in conjunction with the late Professor A. J. Church, his cousin on his mother's side, of stories from classical writers with designs from Flaxman, colored after the manner of the paintings on Greek vases.

COPYRIGHT NOTES.

"PARSIFAL" COPYRIGHT.

ACCORDING to a Berlin dispatch Crown Prince Frederick William heads the list of signers of a petition which has been presented to the Reichstag asking for the enactment of a special law to extend the copyright of Richard Wagner's opera "Parsifal," which expires this year.

COPYRIGHT IN THE SOUTH AFRICAN UNION.

THE committee appointed to bring about the uniform regulation of Copyright in the South African Unions lately published its first draft.

It contains regulations mainly identical with those of the British Imperial Copyright law; one deviation is found in the provision for voluntary registration, which will serve to prevent a plea of ignorance and good faith by the infringers.

COMMUNICATIONS.

POST OFFICE TRACERS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SUPPLEMENTARY to the query of Mr. W. B. Clarke concerning the non-delivery of correctly addressed parcels, I should like to ask if any dealer ever has had returned to him by the post office a parcel in search of which he has sent out a "tracer," filling one of those cyclopedic forms provided by the department.

New York City.

EDWIN C. WALKER.

POSTAL MATTERS.

BOOKS TO BE ADMITTED TO PARCELS POST.

ACCORDING to a newspaper report, given some currency, Postmaster-General Hitchcock will, within the next few days, by executive order, materially change the present parcel post rates and classifications. Books will probably be admitted at the new rates, and there will undoubtedly be a reduction of charges on other articles on the longer distances. It is known that the Postmaster-General hopes, before his term expires, on the 4th of March, to have greatly extended the benefits of the parcel post system. Under the act of last August, he has the power to enlarge the field almost arbitrarily.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

THE Harmsworth papers of London report profits for 1912 of $1,316,415.

THE Constructive Quarterly, "a new journal of the faith and work and thought of Christendom," will make its appearance March 1, published by George H. Doran Co. Silas McBee is the editor. Among the contributors to the first number are Wilfrid Ward, Prof. Friedrich Loofs, Shailer Mathews, Bishop F. J. McConnell, and Prof. W. L. Bevan.

THE Century Syndicate announces the publication of a new Sunday newspaper section of eight pages, printed in four colors and entirely "devoted" to children. The principal feature of the section will be the "Tarryvale Town" series by Raymond Perry, a full-page pictorial serial, and Dan Beard will contribute a regular department, "Talks with the Boys," weekly. The publishing company is now under contract to furnish the sections to the following papers: New York Sun, Philadelphia Record, Boston Herald, Buffalo News, Pittsburgh Leader and Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE New York Evening Post, beginning February 8, will start the publication on Saturdays of an illustrated magazine, a periodical of sixteen pages, the outside to be in colors. This magazine will be part of the regular Saturday issue of the Post, which will thereafter sell for five cents a copy, and the new section will not be sold separately. Its cover designs will include the work of leading American artists. The Evening Post Saturday Magazine will not be syndicated to other newspapers. It will be the exclusive property of the New York Evening Post, and its entire contents will be protected by copyright. Henry Edward Rood, for ten years a member of the editorial staff of Harper's Magazine, will be responsible for the editorial conduct of the new venture, and Charles Edwin Jones, for several years with Munsey, will be advertising manager.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

GEORGE HAVEN PUTNAM returned from Europe last Wednesday.

"SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE," by Earl Derr Biggers, is announced by the Bobbs-Merrill Company.

JOHN MURPHY COMPANY call attention to the gift-book possibilities of their Catholic prayer books and Bibles at the Easter season.

"CHILD OF STORM," a new novel by Sir Rider Haggard, is just announced by Longmans.

"V. V.'s EYES" is the title of the new novel by Henry S. Harrison, author of "Queed." Houghton Mifflin Co. will publish the book shortly.

"THE POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL," dramatized from Eleanor Gates' book of the same title (Duffield), is having a most successful run at the Hudson Theatre, New York City.

A. H. CLAPP is now with the H. S. Crocker Co., successors to Cunningham, Curtiss & Welch, assisting Mr. Fassett, head of the book department.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have in preparation a volume in the Channels of Literature Series, edited by Oliphant Smeaton—"The English Novel," by Prof. George Saintsbury.

PROFESSOR FRASER and Professor Squair, authors of the well-known French grammar, have prepared a "Shorter French Course," which is about to be issued by D. C. Heath & Company.

THE Fowler family and their kin will be interested in a genealogy just published by The Biblio, Kansas City, of which H. Alfred Fowler is editor. The work is called "Fowler Family; an Incomplete Genealogy of a Branch Thereof."

EARLY this spring, Doubleday, Page & Co. will publish a novel by A. M. Chisholm, the young Canadian writer, author of "The Boss of Wind River." Mr. Chisholm calls his new story "Precious Waters." It is said to have for its theme the great irrigation problem.

THE new Chicago publishers, F. G. Browne & Co., have ready fourteen volumes of The Regent Library, a series of autobiographical works covering the standard authors. The books are by well-known writers, and are especially adapted for use in schools.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY will publish early in February a new work of fiction by J. S. Fletcher, author of "The Town of Crooked Ways," "Paths of the Prudent," etc., entitled "The Fine Air of the Morning."

"THE PENALTY," the first novel by the short-story writer, Gouverneur Morris, will be published by Charles Scribner's Sons in March. It has a great many illustrations, full-page and double-page, by Howard Chandler Christie.

THE circumstances under which some of our familiar hymns were written, stories about the writers, and other interesting items are given in "Short Stories of the Hymns," by Henry M. Kiefer, published by Steinman & Foltz, of Lancaster, Pa.

W. J. WATT & COMPANY announce for publication, about February 10, a new novel by Frederic Arnold Kummer, "A Song of Sixpence," the life-story of a girl brought up to believe that physical beauty is a woman's greatest asset in the struggle for existence.

THE BOOK SUPPLY Co. announce that they will publish no new work by Harold Bell Wright during the present year. Their efforts will be used in pushing to still larger sales their latest great successes—"The Winning of Barbara Worth" and "Their Yesterdays."

HENRY C. ROWLAND, popular with the readers of the Saturday Evening Post, is the author of "The Apple of Discord," a story of a summer colony, three delightful girls and one fascinating man, written somewhat in the style of Robert W. Chambers' shorter books. Dodd, Mead & Co. are the publishers.

CHINA'S most mystical book, "The Tao-Teh-King," is the subject of a commentary by C. H. A. Bjerregaard—the first work of its kind. Several English and German translations of this work, almost unknown fifteen years ago, are now on the market. "The Inner Life and the Tao-Teh-King" is published by the Theosophical Publishing Co.

IN "Sally Castleton, Southerner," by Crittenden Marriott, the principal characters are Sally Castleton, the lovely daughter of a Confederate general, and Frank Radcliffe, a Northern spy, who penetrates the Southern lines on a dangerous mission. Under peculiar circumstances, Sally becomes the captor of Frank. The J. B. Lippincott Co. are the publishers.

AFTER she wrote "To M. L. G.," she retired to Granada, that mysterious author; and there, we are assured, the story finished itself outside the book, ending in the author's wedding on October 8. Now another novel from the same pen is to be given us—this time a story of Granada, and entitled "The Life Mask." The Frederick A. Stokes Co. promise the book for February 20.

STANLEY PAUL & Co., of London, are about to publish a Votes for Women Six-shilling

Novel Series. The first story of the series will be "The Poodle-Woman," by Annesley Kenealy, which gives a picture of the repression of a woman's talents and faculties, and the destruction of her happiness by a man who takes advantage of the power conferred on husbands by the laws of marriage and divorce.

THOUGH Kathleen Norris has become most widely known through her two novels—"Mother" and "The Rich Mrs. Burgoyne"—it was, as is so frequently the case, through the short story field that she entered the ranks of fictionists. "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby, and Other Stories," published by Macmillan this week, is a collection of tales from her pen—tales, of sentiment, of purpose and humor.

FOUR novels are promised for February by D. Appleton & Co.: "The Lost Despatch," a romance of the secret service in the Civil War, by Natalie Sumner Lincoln; and "WindyrIDGE," by W. Riley, a quaint tale of an English village, will be published February 14. A week later, Robert W. Chambers' "The Gay Rebellion," a merry tale on the militant suffragists, and Edith Barnard Delano's "The Land of Content" will appear.

AMONG modern fiction writers, perhaps there is none who has passed through more of the experiences he describes in his books than has Ridgwell Cullum. Now comes word that Mr. Cullum has written a new tale reflecting another phase of his life—cattle-ranching. This occupation he followed for some three years, and the new story, "The Night Riders," depicts in vivid style some of his most exciting experiences in that capacity.

ARTHUR F. BIRD, London, has secured from the Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co. the right to bring out an English edition of Maud Howard Peterson's "The Sanctuary." This book, already in its fourth edition, has proved itself popular in many sections of the English-speaking world. A third edition has just been ordered for Canada by McLeod & Allen, Toronto, and there have been very heavy orders for Australia. Even the Sandwich Islands are ordering freely.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY will follow up George Herbert Perris' "Germany and the German Emperor," issued November 7, with Henri Lichtenberger's "The Evolution of Modern Germany," to appear February 15. This account of the Fatherland by a Frenchman is more sympathetic than one might at first suppose, and vividly treats the gradual transformation of Germany during the nineteenth century from a patriarchal feudal country into an individualistic capitalistic one.

LOUIS TRACY'S first American story, "One Wonderful Night," a rapid-fire mystery romance, with the scene laid in New York, the entire action of the story covering a period of twelve hours, is announced by Clode. On the list of the same house are "No Other Way," a detective story, by Gordon Holmes; "Mark," by Frances Newbold Noyes; "The Girl of the Golden Gate," by William B. Me-loney; and "The Enchanting Mysteries of Kathleen Carter," by Pierre Leclercq.

"THE LAND OF THE NEW GUINEA PYGMIES" is shortly to be issued by Seeley, Service & Co., of England. The author, Capt. Rawling, was the leader of the British expedition to Dutch New Guinea, sent out under the auspices of several learned societies to obtain geographical information and collect specimens of the fauna and flora of the land. His account of the discovery of a pygmy race will be, perhaps, the most interesting part of his book, which will include numerous illustrations taken by him and his friends.

INCLUDED in Stokes' spring list are the following titles—Fiction: "The Declension of Henry D'Albiac," by V. Goldie; "The White Thread," by Robert Halifax; "The Sixty-first Second," by Owen Johnson; "Roast Beef Medium," by Edna Ferber; "The Kingdom," by Harold Elsdale Goad; and "The Dream Ship," by Cynthia Stockley. Miscellaneous: "Complete Poems" and "Tales of the Mermaid Tavern," by Alfred Noyes; "A Guide to the Montessori Method," by Ellen Yale Stevens; and "Pedagogical Anthropology," by Maria Montessori.

E. J. HARRISON, author of "The Fighting Spirit of Japan," a Scribner importation for the month, has resided in Japan for the last fourteen years. The present volume, as he explains in a preface, is a result of certain studies during that period along lines which have not heretofore been open to the inquisitive foreigner. Thus, Mr. Harrison claims that he has here brought together "material as yet new to the Western reading public," special circumstances having put him in the way of making certain discoveries as to "the occult aspects of Japanese military arts."

"FUNDAMENTAL POLITICS—Rights of Citizenship" (Warne), a survey of the safeguards of the people, describing the evolution of various constitutions, consists of a series of articles by Rt. Hon. Sir William R. Anson, Prof. A. V. Dicey, and Rt. Hon. Sir R. Finlay, with a preface by the Marquess of Lansdown. The same house publishes "Money Making Art," a practical work on sketching, line drawing, color drawing, etc. "Against Home Rule; the Case for the Union," a Warne publication in its fortieth thousand, is of especial interest as a symposium of the opinions of leaders in the great controversy.

DELLA CAMPBELL MACLEOD, a Southern newspaper woman, now living in New York, has written for publication, in February, a romance with a Southern setting, called "The Maiden Manifest" (Little, Brown & Co.). As the story runs, an impressionable young man, while looking at a blue frock hanging in a Fifth Avenue cleaner's window, suddenly has a vision of its fair owner. The vision recurs at intervals, and so ensnares the young man's heart that he resolves to find this fascinating, tantalizing "Dream Girl," as he comes to call her. Thereupon begins his quest, which leads him into a web of difficulties and sadly up-sets his order of life. This is Miss MacLeod's first novel.

THE following books are soon to be published by the Putnams: "Rahel Varnhagen," by Ellen Key, translated by A. G. Chater, with an introduction by Havelock Ellis; "Bible Reading in the Early Church," by Adolf Harnack, translated by the Rev. J. R. Wilkinson; and "The Story of the Borgias," by John Fyvie. Several Cambridge books are forthcoming, among them: "Ancient Babylonia," by C. H. W. Johns; "L'Invasion ou le Fou Yégof," by Erckmann-Chatrian, edited, with notes and vocabulary, by A. Wilson-Green; Dryden's "Preface to the Fables," edited by W. H. Williams; Plato's "Ion," with introduction and notes by J. M. MacGregor; "Forfarshire," by Easton S. Valentine; "Key to the Exercises in English Composition," by W. Murison; and "Cambridge University Law Tripos Papers (1907-1911)."

RECENT Doran publications include "Bunch Grass," by Horace Annesley Vachell, a series of pictures of a California cattle ranch of thirty years ago; "The Private Life of Henry Maitland," by Morley Roberts, the story under a thin veil of disguise of the tragic career of one of the premier novelists of the English school of realism; "Modern Problems," by Sir Oliver Lodge; "In the Case of Oscar Slater," by Sir A. Conan Doyle, who has applied the great detective's methods to the case of a man, recently condemned to death in England, whom he feels to have been wrongly convicted; "The Blindness of Virtue," by Cosmo Hamilton, the play which has created so much interest in New York and Chicago, as well as in London, dealing with the dangers of keeping young people in ignorance of the great facts of life; and "The Elements of Child Study," by William Walter Smith, an up-to-date text-book on child training, valuable to superintendents, teachers and officers in the Sunday school.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE librarian of Columbia University has in preparation a bibliography of American college verse, and would be glad to receive information regarding printed collections of this class, especially those of early date and those printed in the smaller college communities.

A. & C. BLACK in England, Macmillan in this country, announce a new reference handbook, "Books that Count," being a dictionary of standard books, edited by W. Forbes Gray, and uniform with "Who's Who" in binding, format and style. It is, in scope and purpose, practically an English rendering on a smaller scale of the well-known "A. L. A. Catalog of 8000 Volumes for a Popular Library," viz., a select, classified annotated bibliography of the most important books in print. Intended for the general reader, rather than the specialist, erudite and expensive books are alike excluded. It will sell for $1.50 net, and should be of value to librarian and bookseller alike.

Weekly Record of New Publications

The entry is transcribed from title page when the book is sent by publisher for record. Books received, unless of minor importance, are given descriptive annotation. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Alexander, Miriam. The port of dreams. N. Y., Putnam. c. '12. 6+410 p. D. $1.35 n.

By the author of the prize story "Beyond the law." Tale is concerned with the Jacobite cause and its Irish supporters. John Clavering had served the Stewarts for thirty years with courage and ability, only to fail on three critical occasions, overcome by cowardice. There had been cowards before in his family, but he had always held fear at bay, and his overwhelming shame, the influence of his failures on the cause and his friends amid stirring adventures make an interesting story.

Amundsen, Roald Engelbregt Gravning. The South Pole; an account of the Norwegian Antarctic expedition in the "Fram" 1910-1912; tr. from the Norwegian by A. G. Chater; with maps and numerous illustrations. N. Y., L. Keedick. 2 v., fronts. pls. (1 fold.) pors. maps, (fold.) facsim., diagrs. $10.

Begins with a brief summary of Antarctic exploration, followed by an account of the preparations. Then the reader embarks with the expedition and follows its experiences day by day from Norway to Madeira, thence to the Antarctic, where Amundsen makes his dash south, Lieut. Prestud explores the barrier to King Edward VII. Land and Lieut. Nilsen takes the "Fram" away to examine the ocean depths. The "Fram" met both the "Terra Nova" of Captain Scott's expedition and the Japanese Antarctic party, and while they addressed each other politely they had very little to do with one another. The book is illustrated with many interesting photographs and with serviceable maps. In the appendix the scientific results obtained are summarized. Index.

Ibsen, Sigurd. Human quintessence; authorized tr. by Marcia Hargis Janson. N. Y., Huebsch. c. '11, '12. 303 p. D. $1.50 n.

Author is son of Henrik Ibsen. Book is divided into four related essays. The first, "Nature and man," discloses the means by which mankind's capacity for self improvement is to be rationally developed. The factor which determines the best fitted to survive is "human quintessence." Second section, "Why politics lags behind," is an attempt to solve the question why, when industrial, aesthetic and scientific activities are ruled by a spirit of progress the field of political and sociologic efficiency is largely abandoned to hazard. "Of human aptitudes and human art" is a recapitulation of the possibilities lying latent in us all. "Of great men, an essay in valuation," author makes clear that the really great man is a combination of forces.

Macaulay, R. The lee shore. N. Y., Doran. c. '12. 6+308 p. D. $1.25 n.

Novel won first prize in the $5000 Prize Novel Award made by Hodder & Stoughton. Story of a man determined to be happy. An aristocrat by birth and training, a vagabond by nature, Peter Margerison preferred the chance-met adventurers of the highroad to more normal and well-regulated persons. He rebelled against conventions, and fled from cities to the freedom of the road, his "lee shore." Tale is full of lovable men and women, an atmosphere of holiday care-freeness, and sun-bathed landscapes of Italy's coast towns.

McDonald, Ronald. Lanchester of Brazenoze. N. Y., J. Lane. c. 397 p. D. $1.30, fixed.

Raymond Lanchester is a modern knight of chivalry, who, in loyalty to an unfaithful wife and for love of his little son, takes upon his own shoulders the burden of another's crime. The clever amateur detective work of his young actress friend, "Divvy-Di," brings to light a writer of anonymous letters who is spreading misery far and wide. The story ends with the reconciliation of friends long parted and the well-earned happiness of Lanchester and "Divvy-Di."

Author makes a searching inquiry into the vestiges of primitive art left by palæolithic and by neolithic man and into the crude beginnings of some of the great art movements of antiquity. Petroglyphs and pictographs that have been preserved under shelving rocks or enshrined in multi-millennial caves are brought into the clear light of day. Inscriptions on ivory and bone, the decorations of pottery, the incised drawings on metal utensils, sculpture in relief and in the round are drawn upon as significant landmarks in the early history of artistic development. Book is a comprehensive account of the graphic and plastic arts from the animal talismans of the reindeer men to the first gropings of the Greeks. Index.

Stevenson, G: Topham's folly. N. Y., J: Lane. c. 305 p. D. $1.30, fixed.

Topham, a tyrannical man of business, builds an elaborate house, but his money gives out before it is finished. An opportunity presents itself by which he appropriates the fortune of some people who ask him to investigate their claims. Disaster comes upon the unlucky possessors of the money, but Topham never suffers the exposure he deserves, because he dies before his crime is discovered. Mary Ann, a servant in the Topham household, is the means of bringing content and peace into the lives of the family. Book is made up of incidents in careers of the various Tophams, seen largely through Mary Ann's eyes.

Takes a detective on a zig-zag chase around the world in pursuit of one Binhart, wanted for forgery. Starting from the New York police headquarters he follows a false trail through Canada, south then west across the United States, where his quarry eludes him by taking a trans-Pacific steamship. The detective follows him to Honolulu, to Hongkong, to Macao, where he catches up only to lose his man. Scouting the trail again the detective follows it through India, through the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean to Corfu, to Naples and Marseilles. Still two days behind he follows him to South America and a fever stricken trail that leads to Costa Rica, where for the second time he lands the fugitive and again loses him. Pursuit finally ends in New York.

Combined with the

Rosenthal Method of Practical Linguistry

This is the natural way to learn a foreign language. You hear the living voice of a native Professor pronounce each word and phrase. He speaks as you desire—slowly or quickly, night or day, for minutes or hours at a time. It is a pleasant, fascinating study; no tedious rules or memorizing. It is not expensive—all members of the family can use it. You simply practice during spare moments or at convenient times, and in a surprisingly short time you speak, read and understand a new language.

THE CLIQUE

The Recognised Organ of the
ANTIQUARIAN BOOK TRADE

This "unique paper" was founded for the benefit of the ANTIQUARIAN BOOK TRADE in 1890; and so marked has been its success that no bookseller of any standing can now afford to be without it.

The paper is issued every Saturday, and supplied to the Trade only. This unique feature renders it the ONLY paper published in Great Britain in which trade prices can be fearlessly advertised, and it is thus the BEST MED-IUM for wholesale houses who desire to appeal direct to the trade.

As a means of obtaining "BOOKS WANTED" its columns have long been recognised, not only here but abroad, as the MOST SUCCESSFUL which have ever been placed at the service of advertisers. It is received and read by every

ANTIQUARIAN BOOKSELLER in the United Kingdom and the chief houses abroad.

SUBSCRIPTION, 8s. 8d. PER ANNUM. Subscriptions end at December 31st. Subscribers joining after January 1st should therefore deduct 2d. for each week that has passed. Any "live" bookseller can make the subscription out of the first number he receives.

SPECIMEN NUMBER GRATIS on receipt of trade card.

Our terms for advertisements are lower, notwithstanding that we stand FIRST among Antiquarian Book-trade organs, than those of any paper in the world.

THE CLIQUE is the official organ of the International Association of Antiquarian Booksellers.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in JANUARY, 1913

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, 12°, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e., GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

A BOOK FOR EVERY CITIZEN

FUNDAMENTAL POLITICS—RIGHTS OF CITIZENSHIP

A Survey of Safeguards for the People

A Series of Articles by Rt. Hon. Sir Wm. R. Anson

PROF. A. V. DICEY, D.C.L., RT. HON. SIR R. FINLAY, K.C., M.P. etc., and with a preface by THE MARQUESS OF LANSDOWNE. 12mo, board covers, net 50 cents; postpaid 60 cents.

The book describes tersely and well the evolution of many political constitutions and the methods adopted in all to secure the balance of power that prevents the Rights of Citizenship being rendered illusory by forms of government which though ostensibly conducive to freedom really lead to tyranny.

THE LOST MILLION

By Winthrop Alden

Winthrop Alden is not his real name, by the way. It's a little disguise of a well-known author who wants to see how well his story will sell without his name. Property worth a million dollars, if lost, will not easily be forgotten. Starting with this basic truth, the story of "The Lost Million" follows the adventurous romance of a beautiful young girl who is heiress to the lost million, if it can be found; a big, ardent, quick-witted and two-fisted young man who stumbles upon a clue to its discovery; and a disagreeable gentleman who wants the million, wants to know where it is, and, as the possessor of a very ominous and deadly agent—new, by the way, in current fiction—makes himself a very unpleasant obstacle to the discovery of the missing wealth and to the true happiness of the two young people.

SELLING SCHEME UPON APPLICATION TO THE PUBLISHERS

COME RACK! COME ROPE!

By Robert Hugh Benson

Author of "Lord of the World," etc.

Taking the reign of Elizabeth as his time, and the persecution of the Catholics as his theme, Father Benson has written a story of the love and devotion and wonderful courage of Robin Audrey, a young country squire; of his playmate, Thomas Babington, not unknown in history for his efforts in behalf of Mary, Queen of Scots; and others. There is drama in plenty in this vigorous tale, not omitting that most exciting of all stories, which never fails to thrill, the game of hide and seek when a man is running and hiding for his life.

THE LIFE OF THE SPIDER

By J. H. Fabre

Author of "Insect Life," etc.

With an appreciation of Fabre by Maurice Maeterlinck

Fabre, the man whom Maeterlinck calls "one of the glories of the civilized world . . . one of the most profound admirations of my life," is beginning to attract book-buyers in this country, as a few years ago Maeterlinck was beginning to attract them. And think what the sale of Maeterlinck's books is now! The writings of the two men are not unlike,—so for the customers who buy the best books remember Fabre's new book, The Life of the Spider.
